

Policy of GLC's GHG Services I

Our GHG services are available worldwide to all interested parties accepting our regulations and file an application for validation and/or verification services.

It is our aim to continually improve the effectiveness of our GHG services programme, to satisfy our clients and to contribute to GLC's prosperity.

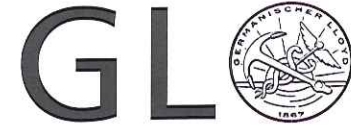

It is our declared policy to perform the evaluation of GHG projects impartially and independently with qualified personnel in a competent way and on a high level.

We are committed not to subcontract complete evaluation services to other certification companies. We take full responsibility for all decision making in the context of our GHG services. We review continuously the avoidance of conflict of interests and set up appropriate measures to maintain the objectivity of services.

We do not provide any consultancy for project activities such as CDM or JI.

The qualification, the competence and the motivation of our employees is the foundation of our success. We strengthen their skills and abilities and support their professional development.

Policy of GLC's GHG Services II

The auditors, experts and veto persons assigned with a certification or evaluation task are obliged to perform their function without any instruction or influence by third parties. They are as independent auditors/experts only bound by the rules of our own management system.

All personnel working for or on behalf of GLC perform their activities in accordance with the principles outlined below:

- Equal treatment of all applicants and certificate holders, i.e. avoiding any kind of discrimination of nations, organizations, companies or persons
- Act open minded
- Strict observance of confidentiality
- Strict separation of auditing and evaluating and the following validation / verification decision
- Prevalence of the objectives and regulations of UNFCCC

The services rendered by GLC are intended to promote the credibility and integrity of the CDM- and JI-concept. Therefore GLC commits itself to the development and implementation of our CDM quality management system in accordance with the CDM accreditation and validation/verification requirements.

Impartiality Statement

The GHG Services of the Germanischer Lloyd Certification work in a credible, independent, non-discriminatory and transparent manner.

To safeguard the impartiality of our function we regularly review potential threats to impartiality. The review comprises the operational entity and all activities of related bodies.

Our staff and management is not involved in any commercial, financial, consultancy or other activities which might influence our judgement or endanger trust in our independence of judgement and integrity of decisions. On a project basis we evaluate potential conflict of interest of each individual assessment team member.

All GHG Service employees are independent and only bound to the objectives and regulations of the UNFCCC.

The independence and impartiality of the whole GHG Services Group is regularly reviewed and testified.
